Headline:
A return to less cold but unsettled weather this week.

Today:
A frosty, icy but largely dry start on Tuesday, with some brighter spells at first in the east. Cloud soon thickening with rain, heavy at times, and strong winds moving in from the west. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly light rain in the evening will move away eastwards to leave the rest of the night dry but largely cloudy. Winds easing. Milder than of late. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Wednesday:
Dry and cloudy to start, but further rain soon developing, perhaps heavy later. Lighter winds. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Windy Thursday and Friday with rain, heavy at times, easing Friday night. Becoming dry Saturday but windy, cold again, with some sunny spells. Gales on Channel coasts Friday and Saturday.
